DR. C. McLANE'S
Celebrated Liver Pills
In offering to the public Dr C McLane's Celebrated Liver Pills, as a remedy for Liver and Bilious Complaints, we presume no apology will be needed. The great prevalence of Liver Complaint and Bilious Diseases of all kinds throughout the United States, and particularly in the West and South, where, in the majority of cases, the patient is not within the reach of a regular physician, requires that some remedy should be provided that would not in the least impair the constitution, and yet be safe and effectual. That such is the character of Dr. C. McLane's Liver Pills, there can be no doubt. The great success which has invariably attended their use, will, we think, be sufficient to convince the most incredulous. It has been our sincere wish that these Pills should be fairly tested, and stand or fall by the effects produced. That they have been so tested and that the result has been in every respect favorable, we call tens of thousands to witness who have experienced their beneficial effects.
DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS are not held forth or recommended, (like most of the popular medicines of the day), as universal cure-alls, but simply as a specific for Liver Complaints, and those symptoms connected with a deranged state of that organ.

WASHINGTON.

The Senate Passes the Inter-State Commerce Bill.

PROVISIONS OF THE MEASURE

A Survey of Alaskan Waters Ordered—General Swaim Understood to Escape with a Slight Penalty—Capital Notes

Senate

WASHINGTON, Feb 4—The chair laid before senate the president's message relating to Mrs Grant's offer to the government of the swords and other military and civil testimonials lately belonging to General Grant, and recommending congress to pass a bill to enable the president to place General Grant on the retired list.

Hoar, from the committee on privileges and elections, reported that the credentials of Evarts, newly-elected senator from New York, had been found defective, not being signed by the governor or countersigned by the secretary of state, when detailed proceedings of the legislature, which are furnished, are not necessary. The credentials and the report were laid on the table, Hoar saying the deficiency would doubtless be supplied before Evarts' term should begin.

The senate, on motion of Cullom, resumed consideration of the inter-state commerce bill.

THE BILL AMENDED AND PASSED

Van Wyck moved to modify the section that provides for the payment of necessary expenses of the commission, so as to cover only necessary traveling expenses. He said there had been so much scandal connected with the expenses of committees, etc., and the treasury department had been so liberal that he (Van Wyck) thought the addition to the section of the words suggested was desirable.

When the question had been put the presiding officer (Frye), after the usual pause, remarked "The chair has not heard any senator vote either aye or no, and is therefore in doubt." This brought a full vote, which was unanimous for Van Wyck's motion.

Saulsbury submitted an amendment, providing that no right of action at present allowed by law should be denied after the passage of the bill under consideration, but Wilson proposing an amendment of similar tenor, and somewhat more comprehensive, Saulsbury withdrew his amendment, and Wilson's amendment was agreed to.

Saulsbury, in some remarks on the bill, said he had never seen any good come of commissioners. What had the civil service commission ever accomplished?

Plumb remarked that what it had accomplished would, to a democrat's apprehension, be much more apparent in about forty days than it had ever been before.

The bill having been perfected, it was reported to the senate from committee of the whole, read the third time and passed—yeas 4 , nays 12.

THE SILVER QUESTION

The chair laid formally before the senate the Texas Pacific railroad land forfeiture bill. Morrill moved to lay it aside, in order to take up the house bill for retirement and recoinage of "trade dollars." (The bill, as amended by the senate, provides also for the suspension of coinage of the standard silver dollar.)

The senate, by a vote of 37 yeas to 22 nays, decided to take up the last named bill.

Ingalls moved to strike out the fifth section, which is the section suspending the coinage of the standard dollar, and Morrill then addressed the senate on the bill. He did not feel that the government is under the slightest legal or moral obligation to redeem the trade dollar, and he had with some reluctance consented to the measure, in order to relieve the country from at least one of the embarrassing incidents which surround the silver question. He spoke of the danger of silver coin alone suddenly becoming standard money of the United States, and of the rapid increase of silver certificates, which he characterized as a queer form of paper money, and the most expensive paper currency ever invented. In conclusion Morrill said: "I do not wish to demonetize silver, or reduce the amount in circulation, but I would make it safe and practicable to increase the amount held in our financial institutions, as well as in the hands of the people. The present bill and amendments are intended to provide against any untoward combination or event that shall leave us with only one of the precious metals to support our standard money. We greatly need them both. It may be far off, it may never happen, but if we could be at any time driven to the single standard of silver it would be a great disaster, affecting the value of all property and all investments, but should it ever happen it would strike with the greatest severity upon the workingmen of the country, who would suddenly find their wages largely reduced by the cheaper mode of legal tender payment. Employes of the United States are better paid than in any European country, and the London Times, in speaking on this subject September 11, 1883, says, with regard to the remuneration of labor, assuming the produce of labor to be 100: In Great Britain 56 parts go to the laborer, 21 to capital and 23 to government, in France 41 parts go to labor, 36 to capital and 23 to government, in the United States 72 parts go to labor, 23 to capital and 5 to government. This shows that for any depreciation of the currency that may at any time arise the laboring men of the country must bear the brunt of the loss."

After short speeches by Beck and McPherson the debate on the bill closed for the day. It will be unfinished business to-morrow.

Blair made two unsuccessful attempts during the day to secure consideration of the anti-foreign contract labor bill.

After an executive session the senate adjourned.

House

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—A session was ordered for to-night, and then the house went into committee of the whole, Hammond in the chair, on the river and harbor bill. The entire session was chiefly devoted to debate on the river and harbor bill. Recess until 8 o'clock.

At 8 o'clock the house went into committee of the whole to continue consideration of the river and harbor bill. Less than eighty members were in attendance at the beginning of the session. Late, no quorum being secured, the house adjourned.

THE INTER-STATE COMMERCE BILL

Provisions of the Measure Passed by the Senate and Now Ready for the House

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4—As passed by the senate the inter-state commerce bill provides for a commission, to be composed of nine members, one from each judicial circuit of the United States, to hold office for six years, except that of those first appointed, three shall hold office two years only, and three others four years only. Vacancies are to be filled by the president. Not more than five commissioners shall belong to one political party. The duties of the commission are defined to be the exercise of powers and duties granted by the bill, "pertaining to the methods and regulation and operation of all transportation companies engaged in inter-state commerce," and to take into consideration and investigate all the various questions relating to commerce between states, especially in the matter of transportation, "so far as may be necessary to establish a just system of regulations for government of the same." The salary of the commissioners is fixed at $7500, and they are authorized to appoint a secretary at $3500. All necessary traveling expenses are to be paid by the government, and witnesses summoned before the commission are to be paid the usual fees. The commission has power to send for persons and papers, to administer oaths, "and to require the production of all books, papers, contracts and documents, or properly certified abstracts thereof relating to the matter under consideration." It is authorized to require inter-state transportation companies to furnish annual reports, giving full information as to their financial condition, cost of property, number of employes, salaries, etc. It shall report annually to the secretary of the interior. The commission shall, during the first year, investigate and report on the subject of maximum and minimum charges, "pooling," "watering" stocks, unjust discrimination, etc.

THE IMPORTANT SECTIONS.

The most important sections are in substance as follows:

Sec. 3. If any transportation company engaged in inter-state commerce shall collect more than a reasonable rate of compensation for transportation or handling freight, said company shall be deemed guilty of extortion, which is declared a misdemeanor.

Sec. 4. If any transportation company engaged in inter-state commerce shall, by rebate or other device, charge any person greater compensation than another for like service, or shall neglect or refuse to furnish the same facilities for carriage and handling of freights to one person that is at the time furnished any other person under similar circumstances, such company shall be deemed guilty of unjust discrimination, which is declared a misdemeanor.

Sec. 5 provides that if complaint is made to the commission charging any transportation company with extortion or unjust discrimination the company shall have reasonable time to answer the charge, and if it make reparation for the injury done and the complaint is withdrawn, the complaint shall be dismissed. If the company shall not satisfy complaint within a reasonable time and it shall appear that the charges made are true, the commission shall notify the company to discontinue the practice complained of and pay the complainant the damages fixed by the commission.

MODE OF PROCEDURE

Sec. 6 Provides that if any transportation company engaged in inter-state commerce shall refuse to pay damages assessed, and to desist from further violation, the commission shall certify the facts to the United States district attorney, whose duty it shall be to commence proceedings to recover damages assessed, or to compel the company to comply with the provisions of the act, and a circuit court of the United States shall have jurisdiction to try the cause, without regard to citizenship of the parties. In case of failure to recover complainant shall pay costs of the suit, attorneys' fees excepted.

Any transportation company convicted under the act shall pay for each offense a fine not exceeding $1000, and if any such company shall refuse to give information, or produce books, etc., shall, upon conviction be fined not to exceed $1000 for each offense.

Any such company, or any person or persons violating the provisions of the act, or attempting to obstruct the provisions thereof, shall, upon conviction, be fined not to exceed $1000.

The route of any transportation company is by the bill made to include all railroad and water routes of a company, and the term "transportation company" is defined to mean any corporation or individual owning, operating or using any railroad or any vessel, in whole or in part, or having the right to use the same, providing such company or individual is engaged in the transportation of freight from one state to another, whether by all rail or part rail and part water communication. It is also made applicable to all transportation companies carrying freights from one place in the United States through any foreign territory to any other place in the United States, or from any place in the United States to any place outside the United States. All rights, actions and remedies already secured by law are continued in force. The bill being in its present form a substitute for the house bill, it now goes to the house.

WASHINGTON NEWS ITEMS

EXPLORATION OF ALASKAN WATERS ORDERED

WASHINGTON, Feb 4—The secretary of the navy has authorized Lieut. Geo. M. Stoney to make a further exploration of Alaskan waters. The plan of the expedition is, in brief, that Lieutenant Stoney shall proceed to the Mare island navy yard, and superintend the construction of a steam launch suitable for making the proposed explorations early in the spring. The expedition will start from San Francisco. Its personnel will consist of Lieutenant Stoney, Ensign Purcell, Passed Assistant Engineer Zane, Passed Assistant Surgeon Nash, and about ten more. These, together with the exploration launch, will be conveyed to the vicinity of Putnam river, in a schooner, and further explorations will be commenced. It is expected the expedition will continue for at least a year. Lieutenant Stoney will leave Washington Tuesday next for San Francisco to begin preparations for the expedition.

ALLEGED FINDINGS OF THE SWAIM COURT MARTIAL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4—It is said to-day, upon authority of one of the counsel for General Swaim, that the findings of the court in his case are in substance as follows: As to the first charge, viz., that of conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman, in violation of the 61st article, he was not guilty. To the second charge, of conduct prejudicial to good order and discipline, in failing to report to the secretary of war his knowledge of alleged duplications of Colonel Morrow's pay accounts, the verdict is guilty, with a recommendation that General Swaim be temporarily suspended, on half pay. No information is as yet obtainable at the war department as to the findings of the court.

THE MORROW COURT-MARTIAL.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—In the Morrow court-martial to-day but two witnesses were examined, and their testimony confirmed the statement made for Colonel Morrow yesterday by his counsel, ex-Governor Boutwell. The latter submitted the case to the court, with his brief argument, contending that Colonel Morrow had acted in good faith in the whole matter, although he may have committed some errors, which he now regrets. The judge advocate made no argument, and the court took the matter under consideration.

COURT OF INQUIRY APPOINTED

WASHINGTON, Feb 4.—Secretary Chandler has received a cable message from Rear Admiral English, commanding the European station, and saying he had appointed a court of inquiry to investigate the charges that certain officers of the United States ship Lancaster had publicly abused the secretary of the navy for having ordered the vessel to the Congo, and also saying the departure of the vessel from Villa Franca, would, in consequence, be delayed several days.

VIRGINIA'S CANDIDATE FOR THE CABINET.

WASHINGTON, Feb 4—At a meeting to-day of Virginia members-elect to the Forty-ninth congress, and the democratic executive committee of that state, resolutions were adopted endorsing Representative Barbour for the postmaster-generalship under the coming administration.

CONGRESSIONAL NOTES.

THE PENSION APPROPRIATION BILL

WASHINGTON, Feb 4—The pension appropriation bill was reported back to the senate to-day by Senator Allison. The senate committee on appropriations has stricken out the legislative feature of the house bill, which provides for the repeal of the statute authorizing pension attorneys to receive a fee of $2 50. It is understood a majority of the senate committee was in favor of the repeal of this statute, but deferred to the general sentiment of the senate, which is pronouncedly opposed to new legislation upon appropriation bills. The senate committee also struck out the provision which decreased the number of pension agencies from eighteen to twelve, and added $24,000 to the aggregate appropriation.

THE SOUDAN.

DESPERATE FIGHT NEAR SUAKIM

LONDON, Feb. 4—A special dispatch from Alexandria says "Osman Digna's troops attacked a scouting force of British from the garrison at Suakim last night. Eight British were killed and several wounded."

Another Alexandria dispatch says the attack by Osman Digna's followers upon the scouting party of British cavalry proves to have been a very narrow escape from wholesale slaughter. The British, numbering eighty men, were circled by 5000 Arabs, mostly well mounted. After severe fighting the British charged in a close column through the Arab lines, and succeeded in gaining shelter under the guns of Suakim. The inhabitants of Hamlab fled to the brush upon the approach of the troops, leaving everything behind them. The hussars and the Egyptians then burned the village and captured camels and cattle belonging to the inhabitants. When attacked on the return, the hussars and Egyptians were obliged to ride desperately eastward to the seacoast, and thence to Suakim. They were followed by hordes of rebels on camels. The rebel force is estimated at 50,000.

It is believed the London government has received an important dispatch from Egypt which has not been circulated.

Say, maiden, with the raven hair
So beautiful and lithe and tall
With eyes so bright and cheeks so fair,
Why let your teeth destroy it all?
For they are dark, and feel the want
Of a soft brush and SOZODONT.

GENERAL NEWS.

The Dynamiters Attracting a Deal of Attention.

A SENSATION AT PITTSBURG.

Three Men Lynched in Iowa—Many Persons Injured by a Train Accident in Colorado—Political News Items, Etc.

PITTSBURG, Feb 4—The publication of a lengthy article in the Chronicle-Telegraph this afternoon, in which it was asserted that there was an organization of dynamiters in this city who were armed and waiting for a pretext for an outbreak, created great excitement among the timid and considerable alarm. The story as published is as follows: "Within the past two weeks information has been obtained piece by piece which shows that here in Pittsburg there is smoldering a volcano ready to break forth at any propitious moment. This information is to the effect that the dynamiters are armed and supplied with explosives and ready to cause an outbreak whenever a favorable opportunity is presented. For several months a Russian and two English spies have been at work in Pittsburg and vicinity endeavoring to learn who is in sympathy here with the Irish dynamiters. Pittsburg for a long time has been the source of large revenue to the dynamiters. Men in the mills and mines who believe in the doctrine of annihilation have been liberal in donations for the cause, and not from these men alone have donations to the socialist cause been received. At least two men, who are famous the country over and who are worth millions, have furnished money in considerable sums. One Pittsburg millionaire is referred to. It is said that not only has he furnished money to English and French radicals, but also German extreme liberals, who used the funds in the German reichstag elections. He evidently did not intend his money to go into the dynamite branch of politics, but a portion of it has drifted there nevertheless, for it has gone from the hands of one branch of the extremists to the other.

NOT LABORING MEN

It must be understood that, although it is a time of disaffection and discontent among workmen, nine workingmen out of ten, even among those out of employment and in sore need of money, would scorn the idea of a socialistic movement, and be among the first to help suppress it. It is not this class who are feared. There are at this moment, however, several thousand men in this county who would not stop at anything which would carry out their ideas of the rights of the poor man to the possessions of the rich. There has been no hesitation on their part to talk openly in meetings and the press. These men have gathered kindred spirits from Chicago, from the Hocking valley, and from the anthracite and bituminous coal miners of the western part of the state. These men have been drifting into the city singly and by pairs for a month or more. They have come here, they say, for work, but in reality to take a hand any moment in plunder and revolt against the law that may be organized. Within the past three weeks from 1000 to 1500 guns and revolvers have been received by men of this city. Some come with money from Canada, others from western points, and some from eastern cities. These arms have been put into the hands of only those characters known, and who can be relied on. In addition to these arms a large amount of dynamite has been obtained by the revolutionists. Some of this is brought from other points, and some is made here by men who are not doing this work for the first time. This dynamite is stored in two or three secret magazines, which are only known to the leaders of the movement.

A BOLD ASSERTION

This sounds extravagant, and reads like a wild sensation perhaps, but is true, and is known to be true by persons who have interests at stake. These men complain that they can not find work, that they are suffering from hunger, and on this plea claim they are justified in anything in a movement against mill owners and other capitalists. Several of these men have been warned, or have discovered the condition of affairs in part, and have notified the police. There is an uneasy, restless feeling among them, so true that it can be readily proved. The police have not been idle, but they have no results as yet. Ask for information, and they will tell you they know nothing about the matter. Some of them do not.

In this movement are all sorts of elements: Germans, Russians, Italians, Swedes, Swiss, French socialists and revolutionists and Irish dynamiters have joined forces. There are English interests represented here by Irish dynamiters, and English representatives, too, and they know it. Two months ago local socialists were at swords' points with the anarchists, pure and simple; now they are warm friends and allies, and have met together more than once. What has brought them together, unless it may be community of interests? These men are known and so are their records, and their recent movements are known also on the other side of the Atlantic. Johann Most, the socialistic leader, was in the Hocking valley only a short time ago, and in council with revolutionists. He went into the Mahoning valley, where many thousand men will be thrown out of work by a shut down in the iron works in a few days. He was in Pittsburg, too. He made no public speeches, but was satisfied with quiet conferences.

SOCIALIST LEADERS INTERVIEWED.

Staub and Fricke, two of the most prominent socialists in the city, were seen to-night relative to the story. Fricke assumed a mysterious air when approached, and refused to talk on the subject. Staub said the society was weak in this city, but he expected to see it greatly strengthened in a few weeks. He admitted that Carlo Berman of New York had been in the city for some time for the purpose of organizing an international society. Further than this nothing could be learned.

The Bullet still in Rossa's Back—Notes from the Old World

ROSSA'S CONDITION

NEW YORK, Feb 4—O'Donovan Rossa passed a comfortable night in Chambers street hospital and this morning was allowed to leave his bed and promenade the ward and corridors. A number of friends called. The bullet is not yet extracted from his back. Rossa's office on Center street is open to-day and filled with his Irish friends, who were entertained by Rossa's secretary and factotum, Pat Joyce.

ROSSA REMOVED

NEW YORK, Feb. 4—O'Donovan Rossa, at the suggestion of his wife, was removed from the Chambers street hospital to St Vincent hospital, which is under the charge of Sisters of Mercy. There he was given a private room and made as comfortable as possible. The bullet is still embedded in his back.

MRS. DUDLEY'S ANTECEDENTS

LONDON, Feb 4—Further investigation of Mrs. Dudley's antecedents in England shows that when she learned she had been deceived by a mock marriage to a person in south England, she became mad, but declined to prosecute her betrayer. Persons intimately acquainted with her, say her love for her children was so intense that for a long time after their deaths she daily visited their graves.

A movement has been started in Nottingham to raise a national fund to defray the expenses necessary to Mrs. Dudley's defense. A circular is being distributed, urgently requesting the people of Great Britain to contribute to the fund to defend Mrs. Dudley, that heroic Englishwoman who resolved to rid civilization of its greatest enemy. Every Englishman, the appeal declares, should be ready to afford Mrs. Dudley every legal assistance.

NOTES FROM LONDON

LONDON, Feb. 4—The man arrested at White Chapel Tuesday with Cunningham's missing brown box is held as an accomplice in the tower explosion. The police refuse to give his name. Among his effects were several important clues to identify other accomplices, descriptions of two of whom have already been published by the police in order to facilitate the work of capture.

A policeman last night in Pimlico found a supposed dynamite machine, with a lighted fuse attached, lying near St. John's church in that place. He put out the fire in the fuse, immersed the apparatus in water and took it to the police station.

ENGLISH COMMENT.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—Commenting on the shooting of O'Donovan Rossa by Mrs. Dudley, the Times says: "This man, whose thoughts one would imagine rap from morning until night upon the methods of murder, at once places himself in the power of an unknown woman. He now chews the cud of reflections, which must be bitter enough. Mrs. Dudley's act rivals that of Charlotte Corday."

The News says: "Should the worst befall O'Donovan Rossa, it must be admitted no one has done more to deserve his fate, but if he were killed some other one would instantly spring up to take his place."

The Standard advises Parnell to take the fate of Rossa to heart. It says stranger things have happened than that Parnell should find his Nemesis.

SYMPATHY FOR ROSSA

PARIS, Feb 4—Rochefort publishes an editorial in l'Intransigeant, describing the sufferings of O'Donovan Rossa in English prisons and expressing the utmost sympathy with him in his present misfortune.

A DYNAMITE DISCOVERY

ROME, Feb. 4.—A number of German and English speaking strangers recently visited a dynamite factory near Turin. It is believed the explosives used in England were obtained there.

EXTRADITION OF DYNAMITERS.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—It is stated in diplomatic circles that the governments of Russia and America are parleying in regard to a treaty for the extradition of dynamiters.

AID FOR THE DEFENSE

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 4—A subscription list for the defense of Mrs. Dudley, who attempted to "remove O'Donovan Rossa," has been opened here.

THREE MEN LYNCHED

The Jellerson Murderers at Audubon, Iowa, Shot and Hanged

DES MOINES, Ia., Feb. 4—This morning about 3 o'clock John A. Smythe, Joel J. Wilson and Cicero B. Jellerson, murderers of Hiram Jellerson in April, 1884, were killed in or near the jail at Audubon, this state. About 2 o'clock Sheriff Herbert and family, Deputy Sheriff Werkman and J. H. Jenkins were sleeping upstairs in the jail, when they were awakened by raps at the front door. The jail is a two-story brick on the north east corner of the square, that is the residence portion, but the jail proper is back and only one story in hight. Inside is an iron cage, containing two cells. The sheriff went to the window and asked what was wanted. The answer was "We want to see you." The sheriff inquired what was wanted of him, and the reply came "We want the Jellerson murderers." The sheriff looked out and saw what he estimated at 500 to 750 men gathered about the jail. He told them the prisoners were in his charge as an officer and he would not give up the keys, but would defend and protect the prisoners. The answer was they did not propose to allow the prisoners to leave town in the night, as it was rumored that the sheriff contemplated removing them. The sheriff told the crowd that if they would go away he would try to take the prisoners away in the day time, and would tell when it would be done, but would neither give up the keys or the prisoners.

A voice cried, "Herbert, every man here is your friend, and we know your duty as well as you do, but we are here on business, and for business, and we want no fooling about it. We are no mob, but a body of determined citizens. We come for the Jellerson murderers, and we are going to have them at whatever cost. We will not interfere with you unless compelled to do so, but we warn you not to resist."

THE MOB IN EARNEST

The sheriff stepped back, grabbed a navy revolver, and commenced firing over the heads of the crowd, to frighten them and alarm the town, but the town was already on hand, and a bullet through the window glass where he was standing showed that the crowd meant business.

In a small room leading to the jail are stairs leading to the upper story, and this room is guarded by iron doors, and another one opens into the jail from the room. These were for the purpose of protecting the jail from without, but this time they protected the crowd and imprisoned the sheriff and deputies. The officers attempted to open them, but the crowd drove rods into the keyholes and the doors were then secure.

The walls of the jail proper were then attacked with sledges, and soon a large hole was made. Men rushed inside and fastened the other door, and the officers were powerless. There was a high board fence running through the court yard, and after the prisoners were captured Smyth and Wilson were hanged to stringers of the fence, boards being knocked off for the purpose. Cicero, the son, was hanged to the band stand, about the center of the square. Smyth was killed by a bullet shot in his left eye. Wilson had a bullet hole in the forehead, another in the face and several in the body.

A DESPERATE FIGHT TO DEATH.

Prisoners in jail with the victims say that about 2 o'clock they were awakened by the breaking in of the walls of the jail, and nine masked men stepped in. In the east cell, in an iron cage, were sleeping Smyth, Wilson and another prisoner, and Cicero Jellerson and three others occupied the west cell. Smyth and Wilson tried to barricade with bed clothes, but with sledge hammers and cold-chisels the doors were broken down, and once in the corridor of the cage the padlocks were soon broken.

After the cells were open the crowd called the Jellerson murderers to come out. Smyth seized a broom handle and struck one man, who fired at once, the ball striking Smyth square in the left eye, and he fell stone dead. Wilson backed in a corner of the cell, and said if he died he would die game, and grabbing a chair would strike at any one within reach. Being driven from the corner with a crowbar he made a dash for the opening with the chair, but was halted with a bullet. He kept up the fight until the third shot was fired, when he fell. Both bodies were then dragged from the cage through the hole in the jail wall, and while they were all gone, probably hanging the bodies to the fence stringer, Cicero breathed easier and thought they would not take him. Prisoners with him told him if he had anything to say he would better say it. He then told them that they committed the murder and his confession, as made when first arrested, was true. Soon the crowd came back and told Cicero to come out. He did so. They threw a rope over his head, and that was the last they saw of him.

ADDITIONAL PARTICULARS.

The crowd that filled the jail was not a mob at all in the usual sense of the term, but a well organized body of deliberate men, who went quietly to work in a systematic manner, and accomplished their purpose without any unnecessary violence. They were all masked, and the party that did most of the shooting were apparently young men, but acted under the orders of a leader.

Prisoners state that Smyth and Wilson have talked badly regarding some of the citizens, and frequently made threats of personal violence if they were liberated. Only yesterday they boasted that when they were brought up for trial at Atlantic they would spot all who testified against them, and, if released, would come back and ride through the streets of Audubon, striking terror into the hearts of its citizens.

A coroner's jury was impaneled, and an inquest held. They returned a verdict to-night that Smyth and Wilson came to death by shooting, and Cicero by hanging, at the hands of unknown parties.

ACCIDENTS.

SEVERAL PERSONS INJURED IN COLORADO.

GEORGETOWN, Colo., Feb. 4—During a severe wind storm this afternoon the Colorado Central train for Denver was blown from the track, about a mile below this place. The entire train is now lying upon its side in a ditch. Of the twenty passengers on board eighteen were more or less injured. Following is a list of those most severely hurt: C. I. Furey, Denver, back injured; S. P. Eldred, Denver, nose split, and internal injuries; J. L. Brown, Denver, scalp wound, badly bruised; Mrs. Marion Deoly, Denver, internal injuries, probably fatal; Mrs. Patrick Holland, Red Elephant, internal injuries; Miss Mamie Holland, Red Elephant, seriously wounded in the forehead; H. A. Sprunance, state auditor, Denver, internal injuries, two ribs broken; Miss Sprunance, daughter of former, severely bruised about the head; Al. Creighton, Denver, brakeman, leg broken, otherwise injured; E. Johnson, mail agent, back hurt; Frank Corkrite, newsboy, back hurt, ribs broken, internal injuries. As soon as possible the injured were brought to Georgetown, where they are receiving every attention. The storm did much damage. A large number of chimneys overtopped, and plate fronts were cracked.

GAS EXPLOSION

PITTSBURG, Feb 4—By an explosion of natural gas to-night Mrs. Sarah Fankuch was quite seriously burned and her residence on South Eleventh street almost shaken from its foundation. Mrs. Fankuch had just gone into the cellar with a lighted lamp when the explosion occurred. The concussion shook all the houses in the vicinity and was heard several blocks away. Citizens in the fifteenth and seventeenth wards met to-night and decided to begin legal proceedings to-morrow against the Pennsylvania Fuel Gas Company to compel them to remove their defective pipes at once.

SHOT BY HIS OWN REVOLVER

DENVER, Feb 4—The Tribune-Republican's Colorado Springs special says: Last evening George S. Robbins, a highly esteemed citizen of this place, accidentally shot and killed himself. He had prepared to retire and had lain down upon the bed, when the revolver which he habitually kept under his pillow at night was accidentally discharged, the ball passing through his head, causing instant death. His father is proprietor of the Metropolitan hotel, Washington, D. C.

EXPLOSION IN A MINE.

DENISON, Texas, Feb 4—A terrible explosion of gas occurred yesterday in a coal mine near Savannah, Indian territory. There were 100 miners in the mine at the time of the explosion. Three are reported killed outright, eight or nine seriously burned and forty-two slightly burned and otherwise injured.

CRIMINAL CALENDAR

AN IMPROMPTU DUEL

PORTSMOUTH, Va., Feb. 4—This morning John I. Jack shot Carter B. Page in the face, the ball lodging in the neck, inflicting a serious and possibly mortal wound. Jack thought himself slighted by Page in a matter of social courtesy and challenged him. Page went to arm himself and on his return found Jack waiting at the door of the restaurant where the quarrel began. Page gave the word "Fire," and nine shots followed each other in quick succession. Jack's fifth shot was the only one which took effect, although Page's pistol was discharged four times. Jack is held for trial. Both young men are well known. Page has a wide circle of connections in this and other states.

AFTER THE BATTLE.

NEW YORK, Feb 4—In the socialist row Monday night none of the police were injured. Peter Brown, one of the rioters, had his leg broken and had to be sent to the hospital. Justus Schwab was the only man arrested. He skulked away before the riot was over, but Captain McCullagh found him in his saloon on First street. He submitted quietly to arrest. His bail was refused and he was locked up. After the fight, a pistol, dynamite bomb and several short black clubs were found in the hall. W. S. Rosenberg, secretary of the International Workers' association, said Schwab had asked O'Donovan Rossa to send a gang of his dynamiters to break up the meeting.

MAIL ROBBERY

NEW ORLEANS, Feb 4—The Picayune's Vicksburg special says: January 10th a mail driver was robbed of his mail bags between Lake Providence and Landing by parties who presented pistols at his head. George Stewart (colored) was driving the wagon when robbed and gave information to the effect that the robbery was committed by Postmaster Jones of Lake Providence, his brother Paul Jones, Eugene Leech and Jean Yarly. Paul Jones was arrested to-day and jailed here and officers have gone to Lake Providence to arrest the others. About $5000 was obtained by the robbers.

CRIMINAL LAWYER SUSPENDED

CINCINNATI, Feb. 4.—The judges of the district court announced their decision in the Campbell disbarment case this morning. The judgment is that Campbell be suspended. The suspension, however, is only for ten days.

CINCINNATI, Jan 4—The district court modified to-day its order in the case of disbarment of Thomas C. Campbell by striking out that part of the sentence which suspended him for ten days. The entry to be made will be simply that he shall pay costs of proceedings.

RAILROAD NOTES.

FAILED TO PAY ITS DEBTS

ST LOUIS, Feb. 4—A loan of $700,000, made by this city to the Missouri Pacific Railway Company a number of years ago, matured yesterday and it was expected the company would pay the amount to the city comptroller, but so far it has failed to do so. Mayor Ewing was officially notified to-day of the default and it is expected some action will be taken by him to force payment. It is even thought he may order a foreclosure upon the entire property of the Missouri Pacific, but has not yet indicated what course he will pursue. It is understood the Missouri Pacific officials take the ground that they are not obliged to pay the principal of the loan so long as they pay the interest.

TRANSCONTINENTAL ASSOCIATION MEETING.

ST LOUIS, Feb. 4—The Transcontinental railway association meets here this afternoon. It is pretty generally understood that C. W. Smith will succeed G. W. Ristine as commissioner of the Transcontinental association. It is said nothing of a discordant character is liable to occur.

FAST FREIGHT SYSTEM ARRANGED

OMAHA, Feb 4—The Union Pacific and the Central Pacific have co-operated to establish a fast freight system between Chicago and San Francisco, via Omaha. One thousand air brake cars have been ordered, to be running by March 1. Through transportation is reduced to eight days.

DENVER AND RIO GRANDE.

DENVER, Feb. 4.—The approximate gross earnings of the Denver and Rio Grande railway in January was $390,400, exclusive of the Utah earnings.

POLITICAL POINTS.

BEECHER'S OPINIONS

NEW YORK, Feb 4—An Albany special to the Brooklyn Eagle says: "Henry Ward Beecher, in a conversation regarding the outlook for Cleveland's administration, said he thought the president-elect had shown very good sense in summoning the party leaders to confer with him and in this way familiarize himself with the situation he had to confront. He thought the new administration would show a determination to meet the great questions pending before the country in an intelligent and conscientious way and that in his efforts at reform Cleveland would be sustained by the best element in both parties, although perhaps giving offense to office-seekers in his own. As to the cabinet, Beecher was of the opinion that Bayard would probably be secretary of state, and commenting on this he said he did not think a selection could be made which would give more general satisfaction to the country at large."

MORRISON THE DEMOCRATIC NOMINEE

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb 4—A democratic joint caucus of the legislature, to name a candidate for the United States senate, met to-night. The names of Morrison and Carter H. Harrison were presented. After much filibustering by Harrison's friends a vote was reached, and resulted as follows: Morrison 67, Harrison 11, Black , Schofield 1. Morrison's nomination was made unanimous. It will require 103 votes in joint legislative session to elect.

THE PRIZE RING.

SULLIVAN AND RYAN

NEW YORK, Feb 4—Paddy Ryan, through his backer, James Patterson, to-day signified his willingness to meet Sullivan, with or without gloves, anywhere, for any amount. Sullivan has already agreed to fight Ryan. Richard K. Fox offers the champion's diamond belt and a purse of $2500 if the men will fight in New Orleans.

BOSTON, Feb 4—John L. Sullivan says in response to Ryan's challenge to fight: "I have no response to make to Mr. Ryan, as I have retired from the ring and boxing exhibitions till my return from England."

A Fixed Fact.

The autograph statement of Dr. Samuel K. Cox, D. D., Practical Analytical Chemist, Washington, D. C., reads: "To the thousands whose systems instinctively shrink from the use of morphia and opium, and especially to mothers, who justly dread the evil and, at times, fatal effect of these dangerous drugs, the Red Star Cough Cure must prove a boon. It is not only entirely free from all opiates, poisons and emetics, (a thing which not one cough preparation in ten can boast), but it is altogether an original and most happy combination of the best remedial agents, and is as harmless as it is effective. I base this assertion on careful analyses and numerous practical tests—the latter in every case resulting in a speedy cure.

THREE MEN KILLED.

A Fearful Tragedy Enacted in Washington Territory.

A CRAZY MAN BURNED TO DEATH.

He First Kills a Hunter, then a Member of a Sheriff's Posse and Finally Perishes in his Burning Cabin—A Terrible Tale

SEATTLE, Feb 4—The steamer Evangel arrived to-day from her cruise through the island route. The officers relate particulars of a most revolting tragedy which occurred on Shaw's island, in San Juan county, last Monday. James Barker had gone from his home at Friday harbor for a hunt on Shaw's island, and when he did not return after a lapse of ten days, Sheriff John Kelly of San Juan county organized a party to search for the missing man. They arrived at the cabin of one Hugh Parks, an eccentric individual living opposite Friday harbor. They were refused an entrance to the house, and even a drink of water.

The sheriff went to Friday harbor and swore out a warrant for Parks' arrest, on the ground of insanity. The men then formed an ambush and watched the cabin. After some time Parks was seen to emerge, dragging the body of a dead man, which was afterward found to be that of the missing James Barker. Parks again secured himself in the cabin.

This occurred on Friday last, and for three days the cabin was closely watched, and not a sign of life within being manifested, Wilbur Wilson, one of the sheriff's men, volunteered to enter the cabin, but on finding the door unlocked was frightened and ran back to his comrades. He again approached the cabin, but as he stepped into the doorway the crazy man within shot him through the head.

The sheriff and his men waited no longer, but saturating a bale of hay with coal oil they rolled it to the cabin and fired it, burning the cabin to the ground. A second shot was fired in the cabin, but it is not certain whether Park shot himself or at the men. His charred body was afterwards found in the ruins of the cabin.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

NEWS NOTES FROM VICTORIA.

VICTORIA, Feb. 4.—There are no tidings of the steamship Wilmington at this port.

The police are searching for Matlock, alias Hastings, until recently a real estate agent at Portland, who decamped from that place with $4000 belonging to a client. He was watched to a hotel in the suburbs of Victoria, but leaped out of a window, in a half-dressed condition, and ran into the woods, since when nothing has been seen of him. It is feared he has committed suicide.

Parliament to-day unanimously passed resolutions condemnatory of dynamiters in London.

Heavy rains prevail, with alternate gleams of sunshine. The wind is southerly.

Sailed—Ship Corsica, lumber, for Sydney.

TELEGRAPH COMPANIES' FINANCES.

NEW YORK, Feb 4—The board of directors of the Mexican Telegraph Company yesterday declared a semi-annual dividend of 4 per cent., payable February 11. The net profit for the year ended December 31 is over 10½ per cent. The company is without bonded or other indebtedness, and has an available surplus of $210,000. Notwithstanding the depression in business, the traffic for 1884 shows a satisfactory increase over 1883. The present traffic of the Central and South American Telegraph Company shows an increase of 35 per cent. over the corresponding period last year.

CONVENTION OF BOOMERS

TOPEKA, Ks., Feb 4—A convention of Oklahoma boomers was held here last night. A large number of delegates were present from various parts of the state and from adjoining states. An address was made by Captain Couch and others. Resolutions were adopted censuring President Arthur and the government officials for expelling settlers from the territory and leaving it in possession of the cattlemen. A national colony will be formed to-morrow and plans laid for an early and formidable invasion of the territory.

THE FAST MAIL SERVICE

CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—Concerning a clause inserted in the postoffice appropriation bill in congress, requiring that fast mails shall stop no longer at terminal points than is necessary for their transfer from one train to another, officials of the railway mail service here say it will not affect the time schedule of trains leaving Chicago, as under the present arrangement trains west from here cannot be started before 3 o'clock without danger of losing eastern connections.

SCHWATKA GOING TO ALASKA.

NEW YORK, Feb 4—Since the failure of the last Alaska expedition up the Copper river New York capitalists have subscribed $10,000 to send Lieutenant Schwatka over the same route. The $10,000 will be raised at once.

TO-DAY'S WEATHER

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—North Pacific, light rains and partly cloudy weather. California, fair weather, except the extreme northern portion, local rains.

CANADA.

MATTERS IN THE DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb 4—In the house of commons, Shakespeare of British Columbia, asked the government if it would introduce a bill during the present session restricting the immigration of Chinese to the dominion. Sir John Macdonald replied that the whole question of Chinese had been referred to a commission who would report to parliament in a few days. Until the report was received the government would not say what they would do in the matter.

Hesson withdrew his notice for a two-cent postal rate. He stated the postmaster general would make a report on this subject.

ANOTHER SMART COACHMAN

QUEBEC, Feb. 4.—A rich widow at St. Roches, aged 74 years, was married to-day at St. Roches church to her coachman, a youth 19 years of age.

A MARRIAGE QUESTION DECISION.

TORONTO, Feb. 4—The Toronto presbytery, by a vote of 27 to 14, has decided that a man may lawfully marry his deceased wife's sister.

ENGLAND

A MURDERER CONVICTED

LONDON, Feb. 4—John Lee, the ex-convict who murdered Miss Key, a wealthy lady, in her mansion at Babbacombe, near Torquay, on the 15th of November last, and then set fire to her residence, has been convicted of murder and sentenced to death. He forged letters of recommendation, and obtained employment from Miss Key as valet, and confessed when arrested that he had assaulted and murdered the lady because she refused to marry him, but afterwards retracted the confession.

AUSTRIA

THE NEWSPAPER STRIKE ENDED

VIENNA, Feb 4—Herr Smatka has written to the press, stating that the committee appointed to investigate the recent trouble in the reichsrath, which caused the newspapers to cease publishing parliamentary proceedings, reported in favor of censuring Scholnerer, who insulted the reporter. It has been decided to grant the reporters' demands, and the trouble is now ended.

AFRICA.

PORTUGAL DOES SOME ANNEXING.

LIVERPOOL, Feb 4—The Manchester chamber of commerce has announced the receipt of news confirming the report that Portugal has annexed both banks of the Congo river.

TURKEY.

MORE GUNS FOR THE NAVY.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 4—The Turkish government has ordered several new Krupp guns for its navy.

Agreeable to Take.

No medicine is so agreeable to take as Healey's Celery Beef and Iron, thousands drink it daily to keep themselves well and strong.

The Oregonian.

THURSDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 5, 1885.

PROHIBITION BY STATUTE

A letter in THE OREGONIAN of [illegible], "A Word to the Wise," published yesterday, contained a strong appeal for submission to the people of an amendment of the constitution to forbid the manufacture and sale of alcoholic liquors within the state. The writer, to enforce attention, said: "There are multitudes of people who swelled the votes of the leading political parties in the late campaign, who will never [illegible] with either of those parties if they do not commit themselves in favor of submission." This probably, is overstated. Republicans in considerable numbers may withdraw for a time from co-operation with their party, if it do not pronounce for prohibition; but the democratic party is not likely to suffer any serious impairment of strength by its refusal to announce prohibition as one of its objects.

It can hardly be supposed that the effort for prohibition has yet culminated. In the nature of things it will continue during a number of years, since there are many who earnestly believe that it can be enacted and made effective. The effort will wear out in time, particularly in the west, where the population is of cosmopolitan character; but till failure and disappointment shall have shown that expectations founded on the demand for prohibition are not to be realized, its advocates will be earnest, persistent and aggressive and, as they have votes, they will probably disturb many political calculations.

If the prohibitionists want an opportunity to vote upon an amendment, we see no reason why they should not have it. For though there appears to be no ground for supposing it would carry, the prohibitionists are not to be convinced on this point till they try it. And since we must have an end of it sometime, perhaps the legislature may as well take the introductory step now. Yet if a constitutional convention is to be called, prohibition might be referred to it, and in this way it might be got before the people sooner than by the circuitous method provided for carrying an amendment.

But the prohibitionists need not wait either for constitutional convention or for constitutional amendment. The legislature already has all necessary power. It can enact prohibition right now. This fact seems to have escaped the observation of the prohibitionists. A statute would be in every way as effective as an amendment, and in certain ways more effective. If you have the amendment then you can do nothing until you have the statute to enforce it, and the statute without the amendment will be quite as effective as the statute with the amendment. That is, the amendment is not needed at all. It will effect nothing. Effort expended in this direction is really misdirected. It will be said, no doubt, that if prohibition can be fixed in the constitution it will be better fortified than if sustained only by statute, because the constitution cannot be annulled as a statute can. But the constitutional enactment will depend at last for its force and effect upon enabling statutory enactments, so it comes down at last to the statutes, and to nothing else. Constitutional provision on the subject is wholly superfluous and unnecessary, of itself will be inoperative, and will do nothing towards settling the question. The whole matter, should a prohibition amendment be adopted, would rest still with the legislature, and there is just where it rests now.

GREENBACKS AND BANK NOTES

A rather curious financial discussion has been going on between the New York Times and the New York Sun on the relative merits of the legal tenders and the national bank currency. The former paper, which seems to have a decided objection to the legal tenders in the abstract, although it will take any quantity of them in the concrete, said that they "have many elements of uncertainty, the most serious being the fact established by the supreme court, that the power of congress to issue them is practically discretionary, and the other fact that they are liable at any time to become redeemable in silver, now depreciated in value and sure to be fluctuating." It then went on to say:

> In the bank currency [illegible] properly guarded and modified [illegible] advantages not belonging to any other form of currency except gold. It is as safe as gold itself. It is current over the whole country. It is [illegible]. The public are used to it and like it and have [illegible] confidence in it.

A very proper reply to this argument was made by the New York Sun by referring to the simple fact that bank notes are redeemable in the very legal tenders which the Times considers so objectionable. A stream cannot be purer than its source, and national bank notes cannot be more safe than the medium in which they are redeemed. But the Sun, which is almost as much prejudiced against the national bank currency as the Times is against legal tenders, omitted to state that the former has one quality that the latter is without. That is the capability of expanding or contracting its volume in accordance with the demands of trade. If business calls for it new national bank circulation can be taken out and if the requirements decrease it can be surrendered. On the other hand the changes in the volume of legal tenders will always be controlled by political considerations and will generally take place about three years after the demand for them has ceased.

It is justly remarked by the Pittsburg Dispatch that both these papers, and many others, seem unable to perceive what is the real fact, that the legal tenders and national bank currency are twin features of an eminently successful currency system, in which each performs functions not within the nature of the other, and that together they give us the best circulating medium the country has ever known. The danger of its coming to a silver basis is a somewhat remote threat, which it is to be hoped congress may have sense enough to avert.

WE MUST ASK LEAVE

Speaking of the rejection of the Nicaragua treaty, the New York Herald asks: "Are the English still our masters, whose leave we must ask before we dig a ditch at our own cost to give our ships a short way between our own ports?" That question may properly be put to the managers of the southern confederacy, under whose government we are now to live. It was the same confederacy whose votes defeated the Nicaragua treaty; and the New York Herald is one of the journals that contributed their efforts to set up the rule of this same confederacy over the United States. It has been decided by our confederate rulers that we can't dig that ditch without first getting the consent of England, and that consent is not to be given, because, as an English journal expresses it, England wants to carry out the enterprise herself. The same English journal expresses deep satisfaction that the new administration of this government will soon take up its duties, and compliments Mr Cleveland by saying: "His administration will doubtless meet with favor in England and other foreign countries and thus retain the friendly relations enjoyed between the great American republic and foreign powers." [illegible] no national policy is to be asserted by the United States and the country will be subject to its confederate masters, who are to be subject to their English masters. That is just what the rejection of the Nicaragua treaty means. It is not by any means the first alliance between the southern confederacy and England against the interests of the United States.

[illegible] in his recent magazine [illegible] "The Reunited Union," holds that the south [illegible] be more safely trusted with the interests of the country than the north. When the south makes profession of its superior patriotism [illegible] knowledge of patriotism [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the loss of [illegible] prospect in his case is still less hopeful. This is the position of the rebel leaders, who regard the recent democratic victory as their own triumph. Their protestations of loyalty are little short of a [illegible].

In an article in the English law Quarterly Review on the principles which underlie the "Federal Government," Prof A. V. Dicey thinks that the position of the judiciary and its established function of treating acts of the legislature in conflict with the constitution as void, are the result of federalism; that is to say, that they would never originate in a non-federal state. Conservative Americans will perhaps find curious confirmation of the truth of this suggestion in the fact that the further we go away from federalism—that is, the more centralized we become—the less willing the supreme court seems to be to exercise this function in critical cases.

No more astounding record of carelessness helping rascality has been furnished than that contained in report of the special grand jury of Cook county, Illinois, which returned indictments against 219 judges of election in Chicago. One of the latest revelations is a sample of the whole. The people were called upon to vote for or against a special appropriation of $100,000 for the police department. This was declared carried, whereas, in fact, it was defeated by over 10,000 votes. The jury state that out of 171 precincts in Chicago seven only fail to show violations of the election laws in the November contest.

THE "EMBLETON'S" CREW.

A Court of Inquiry Exonerates the Master from Blame for their Death.

A court of naval inquiry in reference to deaths of the seamen on board the British bark Embleton was held at Astoria, before Vice-Consul Cherry, Captain Sterling, master of ship Monmouthshire, and Captain Sember of the Perthshire, February 2 and 3. S. S. Smith clerk of the court. The findings of the court were as follows:

That the vessel left Penarth with a cargo of coals for Acapulco, that during the passage the health of the crew was good; that the cargo was discharged by the crew, assisted toward the last by help from shore, on account of sickness among the crew, that most of the crew contracted the Mexican coast fever while in Acapulco, medical attendance being had from shore, most of the sick being convalescent when the ship left port.

That for nearly a month after leaving Acapulco the weather was mild and pleasant, and no particular hardships were experienced for fifteen days. Afterwards the weather was exceedingly boisterous and bitterly cold, and during this time the deaths and hardships occurred.

The court finds the crew contracted the fever at the unhealthy port, aggravated by excessive heat, inordinate use of fruit, and exposure by sleeping on deck, which was persisted in against the master's orders. That having to discharge the coals kept the men very dirty, and they made no great efforts afterward to keep themselves clean. During the fine mild weather experienced after leaving Acapulco the master, in our opinion, should have taken greater precautions in getting the men into stronger condition by stricter discipline, making them thoroughly clean themselves, and have paid more attention to their food, so that they might regain their strength, as he must have expected to have encountered stormy weather in the high latitudes of this coast. That on encountering the cold, stormy weather, most of the men in their weak state, just coming out of warm weather, succumbed to the cold and took to their bunks, leaving but seven able men to handle the ship, including the master, mate and steward. That in the opinion of the court the so-called brutality the master has been accused of consisted in using his best endeavors to get those on the sick list he thought able to come on deck and take a share of the work so as to relieve the other weak ones. We believe this was necessary under the circumstances, the ship being very short handed, and in a critical position. That in our opinion the cause of the deaths is correctly stated in the official log. The cook, in our opinion, might have attended to his duties in a better manner, as he was but slightly ill, and was able to be around after only two days in the hospital at Astoria, and we think a good deal of the neglect and inattention during the cold weather can be charged to him, the steward being fully employed and doing his duty.

The court has pleasure in returning the master, P. J. Paynter, his certificate, exonerating him from all blame in the late disastrous passage from Acapulco to this port, and commending him for his good management in bringing his ship safely into port under such trying circumstances. The court also returns the certificate of Thomas Askew, mate, with commendation for the aid he rendered the master during the eventful voyage.

DEATH OF REV P MACKEN

Rev P Macken, the late rector of St Francis church, who had been seriously ill for several months departed this life yesterday morning at 1 o'clock at his pastoral residence in East Portland. The reverend gentleman was born in 1822, and was therefore about 63 years of age at the time of his demise. The county Longford, Ireland, was his birthplace and the spot around which were entwined the memories of his childhood. The foundation of his ecclesiastical studies were laid in the well-known seminary of Saint Kiran's in the county Cavan, and he finished his studies in the old far-famed college of St. Vincent, Castleknock, county Dublin, an institution which has given to the church many of its most zealous and vigilant apostles, among whom may be mentioned the most Rev Dr Lynch, the archbishop of Toronto, Canada. Father Macken was a classmate of Fathers Gleason and King of Oakland, California, Father Dalton of Grass Valley, and the learned Bishop O'Farrell of Trenton, New Jersey. He was ordained in All Hallow's College, in the village of Drumcondra, county Dublin, on July 2, 1853. The deceased was a hard-working, energetic priest, and was one of Oregon's pioneer priests, having breasted the storms of this great northwest for over thirty years. He had been an officiating clergyman for the past thirty-two years, and he took charge of his present mission July 1, 1881, since which time he has been administering not only to the spiritual wants of his parishioners in East Portland, but also to the Catholics of Milwaukie, Powell's valley and the Sandy. He was a characteristic Irish clergyman of great industry and indomitable perseverance, full of zeal for God's honor and glory, and with peace and charity for all. He was ever found assisting, relieving, encouraging and instructing others. Though unswerving in his fidelity and devotion to the free government and institutions of the United States, yet his heart went out for his distant and unhappy countrymen across the Atlantic, and as he sighed for the wrongs of his country, he keenly regretted that so fair a land, over which lingers like an entrancing fascination, the recollection of its bygone glories should be the fated child of a cruel, heartless and remorseless destiny.

Since his arrival in Oregon Father Macken has had charge of various parishes, and the manner in which he succeeded will be attested by the hundreds of grateful and happy souls who, through his ministrations, have reached that happy home beyond the skies, where the just shine as stars for all eternity and whose angelic hands are extended to welcome his soul to that home of light and refreshment which God has promised to those who love Him and serve him faithfully here below. May he rest in peace.

SENATE

SALEM, Feb 4.—The senate met at 10 [illegible]. On motion of Dorris the senate [illegible] vote of thanks to the ladies of the [illegible] united yesterday by Senator Siglin [illegible] State Woman Suffrage [illegible].

The senate resolved itself into committee of the whole for consideration of Reed's bill redistricting the state into senatorial and representative districts, made a special order for this hour. An informal discussion of the different sections of this bill revealed several mistakes in engrossment and printing. Upon motion of Weatherford the bill was referred to a special committee consisting of Reed, Weatherford, Hare, Simon and [illegible], with leave to report at any time.

Cauthorn by special leave introduced bill relating to location of the agricultural college and providing for its government; referred with petitions to the education committee.

REPORTS

The education committee favorably reported Veatch's bill defining duties of school superintendents; third reading to-morrow.

The judiciary committee favorably reported Simon's bill for additional judge in the fourth judicial district; passed under suspension of the rules.

The committee on public buildings reported Bilyeu's house bill asking $30,000 for an additional building for the state university. A debate arose on a motion to suspend the rules and put the bill on final passage. The motion was lost, 17 nays to 10 ayes.

Lee's bill providing buildings for blind and deaf mutes, third reading to-morrow.

The special committee appointed to investigate the management of the insane asylum reported favorably on the management of the institution and recommended an appropriation for additional sanitary improvements and water tanks for the prevention of fire. The report was adopted.

HOUSE BUSINESS

Sutton's bill for the relief of Curry county; first reading.

Cox's bill providing a mode of dismissal of appeals from justices' courts; first reading.

Cyrus' bill specifying the term of office for county commissioners; first reading.

Story's bill for the relief of William Horn; first reading.

The house joint memorial crediting S. F. Chadwick and A. H. Brown with $[illegible] in judgment [illegible] in favor of school board [illegible] was concurred in.

AFTERNOON SESSION

Hoult's bill modeled after Reagan's bill, made a special order for this hour, came up for consideration. A vote was taken on the bill without discussion. Voting aye were Allen, Burch, Bilyeu, Cartwright, Cauthorn, Coleman, Davenport, Emmitt, Hare, Hoult, Lee, Miller, Myers, Pennington, Rinehart, Shupe, Siglin, Weatherford, Voorhees and Waldo—20. Voting nay were Carson, Dorris, Haines, Hall, Hirsch, [illegible], Reed, Simon and Williams. Absent Warren, and so the bill passed.

SECOND READING OF BILLS

Bilyeu's house bill prescribing mode of issuing subpoenas before grand jurors; judiciary committee.

Cole's house bill amending the general laws; second reading.

Cox's bill creating the county of Morrow; committee on counties.

Siglin's general corporation bill; referred to the judiciary committee with leave to report at any time.

REPORTS

The judiciary committee reported Reed's bill fixing the salary of circuit judges; made special order at [illegible] o'clock to-morrow.

The judiciary committee reported Haines' bill amending the civil code; made a special order for [illegible] o'clock to-morrow.

The committee on [illegible] reported [illegible] bills regulating sheriffs' fees; third reading to-morrow.

The judiciary committee offered a substitute for senate bill [illegible] fixing witness fees in Multnomah county; passed under suspension of the rules.

The judiciary committee reported Simon's bill No [illegible] amending the mortgage tax law with recommendation that it pass; third reading to-morrow.

The [illegible] amending the university charters without amendment; third reading to-morrow.

The judiciary committee recommended the passage of [illegible] bill for incorporation of [illegible]; third reading to-morrow.

The judiciary committee recommended the passage of Myers' bill for execution of [illegible]; third reading to-morrow.

The judiciary committee recommended the passage of Haines' bill for protection of [illegible]; third reading to-morrow.

The judiciary committee recommended the passage with amendments of Rinehart's bill to restore lost state deeds; third reading to-morrow.

The judiciary committee recommended the passage with amendments of Haines' bill amending the law relating to grand juries; third reading to-morrow.

The committee on public lands offered a substitute to senate bill No 118 regulating the sale of school lands; third reading to-morrow.

The committee on federal relations recommended the passage of the senate joint memorial referring to war taxes; adopted.

The same committee reported favorably on the house joint memorial relating to Coquille river; was adopted.

PETITIONS

Burch introduced a petition from citizens of Yamhill county asking the passage of Siglin's woman suffrage bill.

Davenport and Lee offered petitions from a number of their constituents to the same effect; referred to judiciary committee.

MISCELLANEOUS

The governor communicated the action of the agricultural college trustees tendering the agricultural college back to the state and asking to be relieved from further care and responsibility in connection therewith; referred to the committee on education.

Carson by special leave, introduced bill allowing school districts of 10,000 inhabitants to contract a debt of $10,000; passed under suspension of the rules.

Senate joint memorial No 4 praying for an appropriation to complete the work at [illegible] was adopted.

Simon's bill for an additional judge in the Fourth district passed under suspension of the rules.

Adjourned.

AFTERNOON SESSION

The house met at [illegible] [illegible] mortgage tax law [illegible] which afternoon was devoted to discussion of it. [illegible] explained that it was presented as a compromise between the mortgage tax law and the condition of no law on the subject of money which many desired. The bill was supported by Story, Leinenweber, Absher, Cox, Watt, Gilbert, Cole, Cusick and Geer, and opposed by Bilyeu, Veatch, Montague and Miller. The bill passed: ayes 41, nays [illegible].

[illegible] Siglin's resolution for [illegible] circuit judge in the sixth judicial district; first read[ing]. The house adjourned until [illegible].

THE DAY'S WORK

Some Very Important Bills Passed—The Senatorial Contest—Etc

SALEM, Feb 4.—The [illegible]

THE SENATORIAL CONTEST

An important development of the senatorial contest to-day was the [illegible] of [illegible] Hare, whose [illegible] is supposed to represent the element [illegible] to Hirsch. [illegible] lacks only [illegible] of a party majority. The concentration upon Hare is thought to be the beginning of something like the [illegible] movement of last session. It is understood that a stand will be made yet for Hare, but as against Hirsch. Hirsch's plan is said to be to poll his strength up to 47 or a party majority, and then to demand his election as the party candidate, as if he had received a majority in caucus. His enemies declare that this claim will be stoutly resisted. They further declare that Hare's following is not going to be voted out, and that it will break up before the fight becomes so serious as to threaten party division. The democrats' position in the event of a contest over Hirsch is an unknown factor. But it is hardly to be expected that the minority vote will stand intact; some stragglers will almost certainly go to this man or that, but there will not be [illegible] sure to be concentrated or decisive movement in the interest of any one of them.

[illegible]

FOR PROHIBITION.

ALBANY, Or., Feb 2.

To the Editor of the Oregonian:

If it is true that prohibition is a failure in Iowa, and that there is more whisky sold there under a prohibitory liquor law than under a license law, why do whisky men use their utmost endeavors to prevent the passage of such a law where it does not exist, and to secure its repeal where it does exist? Why did the prohibition convention which met in Iowa a few days ago endorse the law and favor its continuance on the statute books of that state? Do you believe that the four hundred persons composing that convention, coming as they do from all parts of the state, are so blind such consummate idiots as to advocate a measure which is directly opposed to their own interests? Are all these reports made in the interest of temperance? Why are those who undertake to enforce the law called "cranks," as by one who undertakes to give an opinion of the situation in Iowa.

Don't you think these reports bear pretty strong evidence of having come from men who would be glad to see the law fail? They don't speak of it as if they were sorry it had failed, but as if they were glad of it. We are happy to hear from the honorable "mayors" referred to but reading their testimony and believing them are two different things. Some of us prefer to believe the testimony of the four hundred temperance men than the statements of a few whisky mayors whose offices are made dependent upon the votes of the whisky men that may be found in all large cities. Besides, the failure to enforce the law is no reason why it should be repealed. Laws against murder are violated every day. Would you advocate the idea of repealing them on that account, and adopting instead a "well regulated" license law to murder? The argument is as good in the one case as the other, and not very good in either.

—No effort has ever been made to advertise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound outside our own America, yet frequent calls from other parts of the world show that good news will spread. Packages of this medicine have even been sent from Lynn, Mass. to China.

LOOK OUT FOR THE BURGLAR

LAFE LABISH, Marion Co., Feb

Our house was "burgled" last night in rather a peculiar manner. We left home to attend a debate about 5 o'clock P. M. and returned at 11, and found the door locked on the inside, and a man just escaped at the opposite door as I got there with a lantern. He had evidently been in the house several hours and calculated to make a night of it, as he had built a fire and cooked a dozen eggs and a lot of buckwheat cakes and helped himself liberally to provisions in the safe. He had prepared his breakfast and then went to bed in our best bed and slept until we got back. Some rings belonging to my wife we found lying on the floor, and the burglar's knife was left on the bureau and my little boy's knife taken. He made a good trade. A quilt had been tacked up to the kitchen window with table forks to screen him while getting supper. He broke the shade off the lamp and then was minus a light. He had examined my gun and box of shells, but the gun was probably too well marked to be of use to him as my name was carved in the breech. I am not able to follow the fellow at present but will give a description so people below may look out for him as he was going toward Portland. Very dark complexion, with black mustache rather inclined to stick out from the lip, and looked like he had not shaved for a couple of weeks; black hat (old one), black or very dark clothes with dark overcoat, may be brown; white shirt or very light-colored one; fine boots or shoes, about No. 8, with small heels; walks with a slouching motion, and was above medium hight and not very stout build.

FRANK J. BEATY

GAZETTEER OF LINN COUNTY.—Mr. C. W. Watts of Albany has just issued a very neat hand-book of Linn county, containing plain statements of its climate and soil, agricultural and mineral resources, and the name and address of every business man in the county. There is also a creditable description of Oregon in a general way. The book is beautifully illustrated and well worth preserving. Mr. Watts's enterprise merits hearty commendation.

EFFORT FOR "THE HOME."—Mr. C. A. Malarkey has very kindly consented to take care of any parcels intended for the children's Home which may be sent to his market, corner [illegible] and Morrison streets—a favor which was asked by the Ladies' Relief Society. A good many families in Portland always keep "The Home" in mind, and during past years have sent to the institution packages of clothing, or picture books, or good things to eat whenever they could be well spared. But these contributions have dropped off since the children were moved to the new Home, not from lack of interest or from neglect, but on account of, first, the severe weather and, second, the great distance. However the west side road runs near by The Home and the McMinnville accommodation in the evening stops at the platform not far from the building. Superintendent Brandt, of the Oregon and California, has expressed a willingness to see that all parcels are delivered at the platform, and another friend of the children has promised to put the contribution aboard the train at Morrison street. Anything destined for the children will be certain to reach them if left at Malarkey's, and his delivery wagon will carry packages from the houses of his customers to the market.

FOUND HER CHILD.—Some time since an infant was left on the porch of G. H. Woodard's residence. It was kindly cared for by Mrs. Woodard during the night and next day turned over to the charge of Mrs. Craft, Mrs. Woodard paying a week's board in advance for the youngster. A day or two after a good-looking young woman called at Mrs. Craft's and stated that she was the mother of the child. It had been taken away from her by her brother while she was yet confined to her bed. She had kept track of her child from the items appearing in THE OREGONIAN, and as soon as able to travel had set out to reclaim it. When the little one was shown to her she clasped it to her bosom and exclaimed: "Oh, my darling baby, I have got you at last!" She then proceeded to administer nourishment to her darling in the good old-fashioned way which prevailed before nursing bottles were ever heard tell of, the little sucker taking kindly to the style. No one need desire to know anything further concerning this affair, but every one will hope that the mother and child may not be separated again for many a day.

"CORONATION OF WOMANHOOD."—Mrs. A. S. Duniway, who is now at Salem, presented to the state a fine photo-crayon lithograph, "Coronation of Womanhood," dedicated to the loyal subjects of liberty who are standing by the cause. The engraving, 12 by 28 inches inside the massive gold frame that accompanies it, represents the goddess of Liberty in the act of crowning kneeling womanhood with a wreath of laurel. Over her head are fine portraits of Washington, Lincoln, Garfield and Baker, and in the auditorium below the coronation scene are faces to the number of about 300, among whom may be recognized Judge Deady, ex-Governor Chadwick, Secretary Earhart, Senator Dolph, Representative George, Hon. Samuel R. Thurston, Mr. W. S. Ladd, and a host of other well-known gentlemen to whom Mrs. Duniway has been indebted for necessary assistance in carrying forward the equal-suffrage movement. The engraving was presented to the state by Senator Sigin of Coos in a neat speech, on behalf of the Oregon Woman Suffrage association.

MUSICIANS SUE FOR SALARY.—Chang Sun Gil commenced suit in the state circuit court yesterday against Hoin Hang and others, doing business under the style of the Hung Far Chin Theatrical Company, to recover his salary. He alleges that he was employed by the Hung Far Chin company as third musician in their theater for one year from May 3, 1884, at a salary of $540, to be paid half yearly, and his board to be furnished, and it was stipulated and agreed in the contract that if he was discharged during the year without just cause the defendants should pay him the full amount of his salary. He was discharged in October last, as he claims, without cause, and wherefore he asks judgment for the amount of $540 and costs. The defendants are yet to be heard from. They will probably allege that Chang's chin was not hung far enough out to suit the Hung Far Chin company. At all events both parties will be likely to do some responsible chinning before the case is settled.

DWELLING BURNED IN ASTORIA.—The residence of Mr. William Uhlenhart, proprietor of the Occident hotel barber shop in Astoria, was destroyed by fire on Tuesday night at midnight. The house took fire in the rear about three hours previously, and an alarm called out the fire department, but through the efforts of the neighbors the fire was put out, it was supposed effectually. About 12 o'clock the alarm again sounded, and before the department could connect hose enough to reach the house, which was situated on the steep grade above the new school house, the fire had gained headway enough to render the residence of Mr. Uhlenhart almost a total loss. Owing to the distance of the house from the beach the hose of both companies had to be connected before a stream could be played upon the fire, but the energetic firemen were equal to the occasion, and notwithstanding the untimely hour and other disadvantageous circumstances, the fire was confined to the one building.

TO THE DALLES BY BOAT.—It looked like old times to see the upper Columbia boat start out with eighty passengers, mails, baggage and express yesterday morning. The ride was delightful and the weather as fine as could be desired. Mr. Jones, the agent at the Cascades, and Captain McNulty of the middle river, were more than delighted to see the crowd, which was by far the largest that has passed over the portage for two years, particularly as there had not been a passenger over in seven weeks. About 150 passengers were brought down, including those from the train which left the Dalles Tuesday morning and lay at Bonneville through the night. The boat reached her dock here at 8:30 P. M. The track was cleared of slides at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon and the Atlantic express leaves at 7 o'clock this morning. It is expected that all trains will be on time to-day.

WANTS $800 FOR A SHIP.—The American ship [illegible] Southard Hulburt was libeled yesterday in the U. S. court by A. W. Berry of Astoria. The libellant alleges that the captain of the Hulburt chartered that vessel to him on the 11th of June, 1883, for a voyage to New York, to carry a load of wheat and flour. He was to pay $20,500 for the use of the vessel and the captain reserved the cabin and such parts of the vessel as were necessary for the accommodation of the sailors, stores, sails, etc. Libellant alleges that the contract was well and truly kept on his part, but that the captain, R. S. Davis, refused to take all the freight offered by him and reserved more space than was necessary. This extra space was worth $800 to the libellant and he was also to some expense in removing the freight refused. Whereupon he prays judgment for such sum as the court sees fit to award and that the ship may be sold to pay his claim.

GRACE SOCIABLE.—The Ladies' Social Union of Grace M. E. church gave a sociable at the chapel last evening. The attendance was good and the evening proved thoroughly enjoyable to all present. Mr. F. S. Akin presided over the formal part of the exercises, which consisted of carrying out the following programme: Organ [illegible], Mrs. [illegible] F. Curtis; song, Lana Chown; recitation, "Evangeline on the Prairie," Mrs. C. A. Morden; song, Mrs. L. C. Francis; song, with gestures, Eva Smith; Peak sisters, six young ladies in costume, who sang both humorous and serious selections. They were heartily encored and responded with a comic selection. Refreshments were then served, after which some time was spent in the pleasures of social converse.

SHIP LIBELED.—The British bark Saraca, now lying at Astoria, was libeled in the U. S. district court yesterday by H. Dennison, ship chandler, of this city. The libellant alleges that he furnished Captain Symes of the Saraca with money to the amount of $150, which money was necessary to enable the vessel to pay her expenses while in this port. The captain, although often asked to pay this money, has refused and neglected to do so, and sailed away on his gallant ship a few days since, and at last accounts was lying at Astoria waiting to cross out. The libellant asks the court to decree the payment of his claim and to hold the vessel and her tackle responsible for it.

ANOTHER ASSIGNMENT.—Joseph Pilger, dealer in dry goods, cloaks, etc., made an assignment to F. Wolf, of the firm of H. Wolf & Bro., yesterday, for the benefit of his creditors. His assets consist of the stock, book accounts and fixtures of his stores here and in Astoria, valued at $20,7[illegible]. His principal creditors are Mrs. Lucy Pilger, $16,675 21; Murphy, Grant & Co., for themselves and various other San Francisco creditors, $11,186 02; W. Pilger, $1642 87; Kruger & Goodman, $822 2[illegible]; S. Pilger, $510; J. & S. Dannebaum & Co., $410. The total indebtedness amounts to $36,728. Mr. Pilger states that his assignment was brought about by San Francisco creditors pressing for payment.

CADET BROOK NOT DEAD.—Some days ago the announcement was made that Cadet Brook, son of [illegible] A. Brook, of southern Oregon, died recently at West Point. The last issue of the Ashland Tidings contradicts the report, and says that immediately upon the receipt of the sad intelligence at Linkville a telegram of anxious inquiry was wired to the military academy at West Point. In response a dispatch was received from Cadet Brook himself, dated West Point, January 20, stating that he was alive and enjoying good health.

THE FISH.—During the recent [illegible] [illegible] Couch lake froze to the bottom and a good part of the ice remained until the rain this week melted it. Yesterday the surface of the lake was found to be covered with dead fish, varying in length from an inch to a foot. These, of course, were killed by the cold, and in a very few days they will be an almost unbearable nuisance and a positive menace to the health of the residents of that locality. A resolution was passed by the council last night directing the chief of police to abate the nuisance, but no suggestions as to the method to be employed were made. Perhaps some reader of THE OREGONIAN can suggest a plan. The dead fish may prove a very serious matter.

Y. M. C. A. RECEPTION.—A most enjoyable social reception to the members and their lady friends was held in the parlors of the association, last evening. A brief business meeting, Mr. G. W. Slater in the chair, was followed by a short programme of music and reading. Songs were sung by Messrs. Frost, Sanders [illegible] and Ross, and several humorous extracts were read by Mr. Fay. "The Owl," as rendered by Mr. Frost, elicited hearty applause. Refreshments were then served, and the evening came to a close all too soon.

PECULIAR DEMAND.—Yesterday afternoon Hop Lee, a Chinese laundryman at the corner of Sixth and G, made complaint to the police that W. S. Beebe had come to him and demanded $50 for having secured to the Chinese immunity from payment of their license fees, and threatened if the amount were not paid by Friday, he would cause the Chinaman's arrest. Lee asked the police for protection in the matter, which was promised. He stated that the same demand had been made from other Chinese laundrymen.

PROPOSED NAIL FACTORY.—O. C. Dewey, of Wheeling, West Virginia, an extensive manufacturer of steel nails, is prospecting in this part of the country for an available site for a nail factory. He visited Tacoma last week, and expressed himself as highly pleased with the advantages of that point in the way of cheap fuel, superior quality of iron, etc., and has about concluded to establish a foundry there.

BEASTLY BRUTE CONVICTED.—John C. Barnes, accused of criminal assault on an eight-year old girl, his half sister, was tried in the state circuit court yesterday. The jury returned a verdict of guilty. The extreme penalty for his crime is twenty years imprisonment in the penitentiary. The miserable fellow is married and was called upon by his wife after the verdict was rendered.

POTATOES.—The potato crop of last season bids fair to prove more remunerative than wheat. Large quantities of potatoes are being shipped to California, 8000 to 10,000 sacks going down on each steamer. About 3000 sacks are brought into town daily by farmers, who receive half a cent per pound for them, which puts $1000 per day into circulation.

POSTAL STATISTICS FOR JANUARY.—The employes of the postoffice during the month of January delivered 49,155 mail letters, 374 registered letters, 4860 postal cards, 8067 local letters, 244 local postal cards and 48,912 newspapers. During the month 75,803 letters, 13,488 postal cards and 7986 newspapers were collected from the street letter boxes.

LOANS LAST NIGHT.—The Franklin Loan and Building association at the regular meeting last night loaned $2000 at sixty-three months' interest in advance and $1000 at fifty-four months' interest in advance. These are the highest premiums yet paid for money loaned by the association.

LIQUOR LICENSES.—The county court yesterday granted licenses to sell liquors for a term of six months to Lambert Kratz of western precinct, Robert Schulze, Albina, and Alex. Fraser at the Red house. They were obliged to pay $50 each for the privilege.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Below is given the substance of a circular issued last year in answer to the caution extensively circulated by P. J. Clark warning the public against purchasing or using The Challenge Fire Extinguisher.

Whereas one J. J. Clark of Meriden, Conn., published a cautionary notice to the public, warning them against purchasing, selling or using The Challenge Fire Extinguisher under penalty of suit for damages claiming it is an infringement of a patent owned by him, issued to Samuel B. Johnson [illegible], therefore, this is to certify that The Challenge Fire Extinguisher Co. [illegible] & Metropolitan Block, Chicago, Ill., are the sole and only manufacturers of said Challenge Fire Extinguisher, and as such will fully protect and hold harmless all agents or purchasers from any damages sustained by reason of suits brought by any party or parties claiming infringements of patents when duly notified of the pendency of such suits.

THE CHALLENGE FIRE EXTINGUISHER CO.

The Challenge Fire Extinguisher is not a grenade or bomb, being simply a non-explosive liquid contained in a glass cylinder with a removable stopple, which stopple is to be drawn and the liquid dashed into the fire the same as from a tumbler. There is no similarity whatever in the chemical fluid, construction of apparatus or mode of application.

Messrs. West & Bond, counselors in patent causes, gave their opinion, sustained by authorities, viz: "The law is well settled that a patentee can have but one payment for his patented device. This rule has been applied to judgments and the law is equally well settled that a patentee can have but one recovery. As the owners of the Johnson patent have elected to proceed against you as manufacturers, judgment against you with satisfaction frees your agents and customers from all claims for compensation to the owner of this patent."

The pending suit will, therefore, cover all the extinguishers made and sold by you prior to the final hearing and prevent successful claims for damages against all of your customers who become agents or purchasers.

From the above it will be seen that the only object to be gained by said threatened actions is to intimidate the public from purchasing our extinguishers, thereby benefiting the manufacturers of the Grenade. It is our purpose to bring said suit to a hearing at the earliest possible moment, thus forever preventing annoying practices by said parties. Very respectfully,

THE CHALLENGE FIRE EXTINGUISHER COMPANY.

THE STAGE

THE NEW MARKET.—A good sized audience was at the New Market last night to see Miss Katie Putnam as Little Nell and The Marchioness in "Old Curiosity Shop." Probably every person in the house was familiar with these—possibly the quaintest and sweetest characters in fiction—but it is safe to say they now have a clear conception of these two masterpieces of Dickens' genius. The ablest critics have long contended that the works of Charles Dickens could not be successfully dramatized, and probably this would be true if strictly applied to the "Old Curiosity Shop," as many of the most beautiful parts of the simple, yet eloquent story were left untold at the performance last night. But the strong types of human nature in the work were faithfully portrayed, though the symmetry of the story was marred by the skips that necessarily have to be made to bring the play within the bounds of an evening's entertainment. In the two characters so widely different, which represent the extremes of womanhood, Miss Putnam sustained the great reputation which she gained during her previous visit to Portland, and proved that her versatility extends through the limits of the humorous and pathetic shades of human nature.

The support appeared to good advantage. Mr. Murdock as Dick Swiveller, was very acceptable, Mr. Bosworth has a good conception of Quilp, Mr. Fitzpatrick as Sampson Brass invested the part with sufficient humor. The remainder of the company were up to their usual excellence. To-night we are to have "The Child of the Regiment," followed by the afterpiece entitled "A Youth who Never Saw a Woman."

THE CASINO.—"Maritana" was given last night at the Casino, before the customary packed "first night" house, and was received with marked approval. The opera will receive merited extended notice in to-morrow's OREGONIAN.

PERSONAL

Lieutenant Johnson, of Co. G, is out again.

Mr. F. C. Holden, of Astoria, passed through the city en route to Salem yesterday.

Hon. Warren Truitt has returned from his journey to Washington with the electoral vote.

Judge O. N. Denny left for San Francisco by last night's steamer and will remain away about two months.

Dr. D. S. Baker, of Walla Walla, who was stricken with paralysis, is improving and strong hopes are entertained of his recovery.

Hon. Binger Hermann, of Roseburg, congressman elect for Oregon, arrived here last night and will leave in a few days for Washington, D. C.

Hon. Thomas D. Tims, of Ottawa, inspector of finance for the Canadian government, who has been to Victoria on official business, is in the city en route home.

Mr. Frank Dietz, freight conductor on the O. R. & N., was married yesterday to Miss Lulu Glover, of this city. They leave by the Atlantic express this morning to visit Mr. Dietz's relatives in Iowa and Chicago. The groom is a favorite with the company's trainmen, who unite in best wishes for happiness.

[illegible] John Wilson, Wm. Strong, [illegible] Williams, W. H. Williams, W. S. Fletcher, Donald Macleay, S. D. Smith, R. Gilbert, H. McIntosh, [illegible] O'Connor, A. W. Stowell, [illegible] and S. A. [illegible] presented [illegible] that they had signed the remonstrance against the improvement of Twelfth street under a misrepresentation that box gutters were to be laid on [illegible] side of the street from Market to B. [illegible] that such is not the case they desired their signatures taken off the remonstrance, and again petition for the improvement of Twelfth street; referred to the committee on streets and public property.

Mrs. C. L. Cardwell presented a certificate from the county assessor that she is entitled to a deduction for indebtedness from her assessment of $[illegible] on account of mortgages held by Balfour, Guthrie & Co., and asked that such deduction be [illegible] upon her city assessment; referred to the committee on ways and means and the city attorney.

Mrs. Martha Comstock presented a similar petition and certificate, the amount of her assessment being $7000; same reference.

Catharine Maxwell asked that the tax of $4 40 put upon her property—the block south of block 20—be refunded on the ground that it is not within the city limits; same reference.

Miss A. M. Jorgensen presented a similar certificate and petition stating that her assessment for [illegible] was entered at $1000 when it should be $[illegible]; same reference.

J. C. Marr asked a refunding of a portion of the liquor license fee paid by him to the city on January [illegible] amounting to $8[illegible]. The petitioner stated that he had been unable to procure the required bonds since paying the license, and in consequence he would be obliged to retire from business. The $8[illegible] represents the unexpired term of the quarter; granted.

J. A. Clarno asked a deduction of $1200 from the city assessment of his property; referred to the committee on ways and means and the city attorney.

Thompson Kelly, A. Luelling and S. H. [illegible], committee appointed at the quarterly meeting of Multnomah district Pomona grange, asked the council to establish market rules and regulations by setting apart certain streets or parts of streets where producers and consumers may meet at certain hours to the advantage of both parties. The committee close their petition by saying "The present plan of marketing is very disastrous to farmers living at a distance from town." Upon motion of Councilman Sears the matter was referred to the committee on health and police.

REPORTS

The committee on streets and public property reported the bids for street lighting by oil which were published last Sunday. The report was adopted.

The same committee reported favorably upon the petition of C. B. Bates and others for the improvement of Tenth street; adopted. They also reported that the petition of Wm. Shoplo[illegible] and others for the extension of Sherlock avenue be granted; adopted.

The street superintendent's report and the police judge's report were referred back from the committees designated to examine them and reported to be correct.

The communication of John T. Gibbs of Philadelphia accepting the terms of the resolution requiring the company he represents to give bonds to commence the erection of gas works in this city within a year was read and placed on file.

NEW ORDINANCES.

Making [illegible] assessment of Montgomery street west of Fourteenth street and appropriating $1444 8[illegible] for the improvement passed under suspension of the rules.

Making an appropriation of $[illegible] for the purchase of property at chief of police's sales; passed.

Authorizing the committee on streets and public property to expend $14,000 during the coming year for cleaning and sprinkling streets; read twice.

Levying a supplementary assessment for the improvement of Jefferson street and making an appropriation therefor; read twice.

Councilman Gerdes introduced another street lighting ordinance similar to the one voted down at the last meeting, except that the rates for coal oil lamps were fixed at the same figures as the lowest bids last received by the street committee.

Councilman Scoggins moved to amend by having the gas lamps lighted from twilight to daylight, which was carried.

The mayor did a little talking, commending [illegible] this amendment, saying [illegible] this was what the city needed.

Councilman Adams started in to [illegible] the ordinance by reducing the contract price with the gas company from $3 05 per lamp to $3.

His amendment was, after some [illegible] which it was stated that the gas company would [illegible] not [illegible] adopted by the council.

Adams then proposed as another amendment to strike out the first section of the ordinance which allowed the council to have electric lights in front of [illegible] buildings where they might deem proper.

This provoked considerable discussion [illegible] [illegible] was finally stricken out.

When the ordinance as amended was [illegible] [illegible] Councilman Forbes was dissatisfied and moved that there should be a contract made with the gas company, and that the [illegible] $3 05 which was the result of Adams' first amendment be stricken out. The motion prevailed and the amendment was stricken out.

Gerdes, in a sorrowful tone, as he watched the chopping of the merciless knives of his opponents upon his ordinance, moved to indefinitely postpone the whole matter. This was lost. Gerdes, Adams and Scoggins voting in the affirmative, and Smith, Fliedner, Forbes and Holland in the negative, Sears and Andrus not voting.

Gerdes then introduced a second ordinance to light the streets of the city with oil lamps only, saying he proposed to satisfy the council in some way if possible. This ordinance provides that if the lowest bidder does not take the contract the next lowest shall be allowed to do so.

Fliedner [illegible] some [illegible] on this and flooded Gerdes with questions [illegible] which resulted in thoroughly muddling the minds of everybody upon the matter.

[illegible]

Shall I [illegible] your honor [illegible]

"Yes, sir," answered the mayor, with a show [illegible]

An ordinance introduced by Councilman Forbes was then read [illegible]. This [illegible] provided for the lighting [illegible] city by [illegible] was read. Gerdes [illegible] in his chair and indulged in a hearty silent chuckle. [illegible] advertising for bids and [illegible] the police [illegible] whether the lamps were [illegible] after light [illegible] required.

Gerdes now thought [illegible] bigger in the fence, and declared that there was something wrong in this new ordinance which he believed was to give the contract to some favorite.

Forbes moved that the rules be suspended and his ordinance be placed upon its final passage. This motion was seconded by Adams, which brought Gerdes, Sears and [illegible] to their feet with objections. The debate dwindled into a low [illegible] when [illegible] the mayor was an interested spectator.

When everybody [illegible] to the motion to suspend the rules. This was lost, and the regular business [illegible] proceeded with.

Authorizing a contract with [illegible] for feeding city prisoners at [illegible] cents a meal; passed.

The mayor remarked [illegible] all the councilmen would vote for [illegible]

An ordinance authorizing the [illegible] $1[illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] not prevail.

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

Gerdes broke the silence at last by making a speech alleging that Adams was guilty of sharp practice and did this for the purpose of killing the ordinance. He ended by saying, "Don't think you can pick me up for a greenhorn."

Adams [illegible] denied the allegation [illegible] [illegible] wanted to [illegible] ordinance [illegible] vote for it.

Gerdes did not believe [illegible] called for the yeas and nays on the motion to suspend the rules.

Pending this, Sears made [illegible] speech asking information as to the object of passing this ordinance now.

Adams made a still longer speech in explanation, talking about equity, etc., saying that the only fair way now was to take the first bids which his amendment proposed to do. The second bids published last Sunday he did not think ought to be taken into account, as it was not fair to the first bidders. Forbes' ordinance, which provides for advertising for bids a third time, Adams thought would be fair, as it would give the first bidders a [illegible] chance.

Although Adams did not [illegible] [illegible] amendment the suspension [illegible] Gerdes [illegible]

The ordinance authorizing [illegible] for lamp posts passed.

The ordinance appropriating $[illegible]00 for the use of the fire department passed.

[illegible] ordinance appropriating $14,000 for street lighting passed.

The ordinance providing for the payment of salaries and the ordinary expenses of the city government, and appropriating $[illegible] was then taken up.

Sears moved to amend by adding $300 to the amount appropriated for the city treasurer's salary, making it $1500; carried.

The ordinance then passed by a vote of [illegible] to 2, Scoggins and Fliedner voting in the negative.

The ordinance providing for the time and manner of improving Fifteenth street from Columbia to Mill passed.

The ordinance declaring a supplementary assessment and making an appropriation for the improvement of Third street passed, Gerdes remarking that he thought the assessments ought to be made out right the first time and save all this bother.

The ordinance making an appropriation for the extension of Porter street passed.

RESOLUTIONS

Allowing the city scavenger to dump upon the public levee, provided such dumping contains no noxious or offensive matter. This resolution was brought up by Gerdes but was generally opposed by all the other members of the council. Upon motion of Adams the matter was indefinitely postponed.

Councilman Sears offered a resolution instructing the chief of police to abate the nuisance caused by the dead fish in Couch lake, which was adopted.

Authorizing the clerk to draw a warrant to pay for the Market street sewer, adopted.

Giving notice of the proposed improvement of D street by laying crosswalks; adopted.

Authorizing the clerk to issue [illegible] warrants for the collection of delinquent taxes for the years 1883 and 1884; adopted.

Authorizing an investigation and examination into the books of ex-Chief of Police W. H. Watkinds and the employment of a competent accountant for that purpose. After some discussion the resolution was adopted and the council then adjourned.

THE MAYOR ON HIS DIGNITY

At one time in the proceedings when the councilmen grew animated in discussion, they seemed to forget that there was a presiding officer and instead of appearing like a parliamentary body, they were more after the style of an old maid's tea party. Nearly everybody was talking and pretty loud at the same time. The mayor couldn't stand it any longer. Either he was or was not entitled to some respect as a presiding officer. Clearing his throat he said in deep chest tones that attracted the attention of everybody:

"Gentlemen."

When all the members were wondering what was to come next the mayor continued:

"I want to call your attention to rule 12 which says no councilman shall rise and address the chair [illegible]"

Some one in the lobby applauded and the mayor looked triumphant while the councilmen paid particular attention to the rule during the rest of the session.

"A man never knows," says a Boston writer, "when an idea is going to strike him. Of its arrival he has no intellectual premonition." That's a fact, and the majority of men never know that an idea has struck them. Probably it is because they are so unaccustomed to the habits of an idea that they don't know when it has arrived.—Arkansaw Traveler.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

[illegible] bbls [illegible] 300 [illegible]

During [illegible] shipments [illegible] 30 ctls wheat [illegible] millstuff [illegible] lbs [illegible] butter [illegible] eggs 130 pkgs [illegible] lard [illegible] 1000 [illegible]

[illegible] shipments [illegible] during [illegible] sailing [illegible] wool 503 [illegible] 1 [illegible] consisted [illegible] Sons [illegible] Walla Walla [illegible] Columbia Canning Co [illegible] Columbia [illegible] Jackson [illegible] the hops [illegible] went to Dundee [illegible] New York [illegible] Liverpool [illegible] Dundee and [illegible] London [illegible] 1500 lbs [illegible] total [illegible]

The receipts [illegible] shipments [illegible] actually cleared [illegible] of the Homer [illegible] Yarra Yarra, Hollinghurst and Frode [illegible] not included, they not having cleared final. There are now six vessels loading wheat or flour at this point. The receipts of flour in the same time were 10,648 tons [illegible] and shipments [illegible] tons not including the cargo of the Vesta [illegible] loaded but not cleared final.

Receipts of produce for the week have been quite liberal and a very fair amount of business [illegible] but prices have shown little [illegible] The speculative element has remained hidden to a very large extent and business was consequently of a steady character [illegible] which little of new interest has taken place, the local market not failing to respond to the declines abroad. This [illegible] decline [illegible] very nearly placed the market [illegible] where it was last fall. The months of December and January brought better prices [illegible] when for this cereal and the Pacific coast came in for its full share of the enjoyments of cereal market life. During these months it was pretty generally conceded that the markets did have a better [illegible] notwithstanding [illegible] almost forced the conclusion there was none. Now the query comes back to us with new interest. To the mind of almost everyone [illegible] a [illegible] affair when connected with wheat values. It is pretty effectually proven itself such in the past six or eight months very [illegible] downward step until desperate efforts were put forth to elevate it from the depths [illegible] considerable recovery was seen [illegible] and wonder what can cause reaction. If the consuming countries [illegible] have very lately there is nothing to check the decline or at least to bring about recovery. We know little of what the countries are [illegible] have been doing in the way of grain export but we do know that our own has a large quantity [illegible] with immense reserve that must sooner or later seek a foreign market. The American seller has agreed to hold back as much as possible for better prices. Farmer and speculator know that Britain does not now carry the stocks she has in past years and they know the market is becoming more sensitive to the American movement. Heavy supplies are now afloat, those from this coast being largely in the hands of English operators. To-day the American markets show remarkable strength compared with the weakness abroad and this strength must be attributed to a determination on the part of the American to force the foreign buyer [illegible] curtailment of shipments for a time would go far toward bringing about price recovery, but as long as exports are not restricted the foreign buyer is not compelled to advance prices. Other countries than our own are not now credited with being market disturbers, hence we look upon our own doings as going very far in determining foreign values. This may be a narrow view, but in the light of recent changes is not altogether an unfair one. The present must be attributed to a lull in buying and to increased deliveries by British farmers who sold liberally on the late rise [illegible] the coast supplies afloat are evenly distributed over a period of four months and their arrival can easily be calculated. Atlantic supplies are not so apparent for they are increased or diminished on short notice. Other countries [illegible] months off [illegible] cago is climbing upward again through new speculation and as May now cuts a prominent figure in that market the movement is expected to be light for a time. Returning to the local market [illegible] found to have been in light trading for the week. Shippers have talked it down but have had to pay full prices as a rule. They have almost supplied their wants which of itself must render them fairly independent. Millers have not been forced to buy but have taken [illegible] They have to keep from one to four weeks supplies ahead being able to correctly gauge wants. With the present spot fleet loaded the export business as has been previously stated must drag, and in the event of continued depression abroad will probably develop itself into a single ship business. Exporters will necessarily have to see a cargo in sight before chartering. Other leading lines call for only the usual comment this week. Several round lots of hops have gone east of late and one large lot of wool was so shipped. The markets [illegible] are dull ones throughout.

PRODUCE RECEIPTS—Last [illegible] hours [illegible] ctls wheat, [illegible] bbls flour, [illegible] ctls oats, [illegible] ctls bran, [illegible] ctls millstuff, [illegible] sks potatoes, [illegible] lbs wool, [illegible] hides, [illegible] cs eggs, [illegible] lbs hops, [illegible] bxs fruit, [illegible] pkgs butter. Also [illegible] ctls wheat [illegible] bbls flour from the eastern section.

Receipts for seven days ending Wednesday noon aggregate 91,534 ctls wheat, [illegible] bbls flour, [illegible] ctls oats, 414 ctls barley, 1677 ctls bran, [illegible] ctls millstuff, [illegible] sks potatoes, [illegible] lbs wool, [illegible] lbs hides, [illegible] lbs hops, [illegible] bxs fruit, [illegible] pkgs butter. For the same week last year wheat receipts were 384 ctls and flour receipts 800 bbls.

Receipts by leading transportation lines since August 1, as compared with a like time last cereal year have been:

THE EAST SIDE

The evening classes of the Y. M. C. A. will commence Friday evening.

Leopold Burman of L. & D. Burman, after [illegible] the action of the San Francisco creditors in closing their houses in Portland and East Portland, to go to work on account of the indifference of business to eastern houses. He thinks other Portland firms will be treated in a similar manner for the same reason. He says all demands will be met dollar for dollar.

The mask ball to be given by Sumner Post G. A. R., at Hall & Stott's hall, Friday evening, Feb. 6, is for the purpose of replenishing the relief fund of the post—a fund used exclusively for charitable purposes. No pains will be spared to make the affair select and enjoyable so that the pleasure of the occasion may entitle it to patronage commensurate with its commendable object.

The party who has the contract for cleaning the business streets of East Portland and who left the same in a half cleaned condition since last Saturday morning, turned up unexpectedly yesterday morning and finished the job. He had probably read THE OREGONIAN. This action, together with that of the marshal in serving notice on the responsible parties, have had a very salutary and desirable effect upon the condition of the streets.

The tolling of the bell of St. Francis Catholic church at an early hour yesterday morning announced the death of its rector, Rev. Father P. Mackin, which occurred shortly after midnight at his residence, northwest corner of Eleventh and I streets. Deceased had been affected with gastric troubles since spring of last year, and after trying a change of climate without beneficial effect, he returned here, and as early as June last his ailment became such as to preclude attention to his ministerial labors and necessitated confinement to the house. His digestion never improved, and he gradually became weaker, with the result stated. He was well beloved by his parishioners and universally esteemed irrespective of creed or belief. Funeral services will take place at the church on Friday.

YAMHILL NOTES

McMINNVILLE, Feb. 4.

The Grand Council of Royal and Select Masons of Oregon was organized here last evening. A constitution was adopted and the following officers elected: Asa H. Hodson, grand master; Wallace Baldwin, deputy grand master; Christopher Taylor, G. I. master; Samuel Tulloch, grand conductor of work; H. E. Harris, grand treasurer; E. J. Babcock, grand recorder; J. A. Newell, grand captain of the guard; W. C. Craford, grand chaplain; Geo. McD. Stroud, grand marshal; J. P. Wisecarver, grand steward; John J. Spencer, grand sentinel.

The fire department had a jolly time last evening, it being the annual election of officers, and the new officers "set up the oysters." The officers elected were: D. C. Narver, chief engineer (re-elected); A. V. R. Snyder, assistant engineer; W. F. Bangasser, secretary; G. F. Tucker, treasurer. Engine company: W. G. Henderson, foreman; M. M. High, first assistant; Henry Corlin, second assistant; Elsia Wright, delegate. Hose company: Ed Fuller, foreman; J. P. Magruder, first assistant; W. S. Booth, second assistant; L. L. Rogers, delegate; D. H. Turner, president; E. W. Wallace, secretary; Geo. Robinson, treasurer. Hook and Ladder company: W. F. Bangasser, foreman; O. O. Hodson, first assistant; Wm Campbell, second assistant; A. Baker, delegate; I. Multner, president; G. W. Jones, secretary; Wm Hall, treasurer.

Religious revivals are in progress at the Baptist, Methodist, and C. P. churches. Several converts are being made.

Mrs. W. B. Turner of Portland is in town, visiting relatives.

Three or four cases of measles are reported in town.
